

THE MEMBERS OF THE EUROPEAN ECONOMIC ADVISORY GROUP AT CESIFO

Giuseppe Bertola

(Ph.D., Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1988) is Professor of Economics at EDHEC Business School, on extended leave without pay from his position at Università di Torino where he has been Professore Associato (since 1993) and Ordinario (1996–) di Economia Politica. In 1997–2003 he was full-time Professor at the European University Institute; in 1989–93 he was Assistant Professor and Assistant Director of the International Finance Section, Princeton University. He has served as a Managing Editor of Economic Policy (2001–08), Condirettore of Giornale degli Economisti e Annali di Economia (1996–2011), and a Programme Director of CEPR's Labour Economics programme (2009–2013). He has performed scientific advisory work for the European Commission, the European Central Bank, and other organizations. His research currently focuses on the structural and institutional aspects of labour and financial markets, from an international comparative perspective, particularly as regards their distributional impact and interaction with the European process of economic and monetary unification. He has applied similar methods to exchange rate and money-market policies, interactions between growth and distribution, households' durable consumption and borrowing, and educational systems. He has also published widely in the Review of Economic Studies, the American Economic Review, the European Economic Review, other academic journals and books, also authoring chapters in Handbook of Labor Economics and Handbook of Income Distribution (North-Holland), co-authoring Models for Dynamic Macroeconomics (Oxford University Press) and Income Distribution in Macroeconomic Models (Princeton University Press), and co-editing Welfare and Employment in a United Europe and The Economics of Consumer Credit (MIT Press).

Harold James

(Ph.D. Cambridge University, 1982) is Claude and Lore Kelly Professor in European Studies and a Professor of History at Princeton University, a Professor of International Affairs in the Woodrow Wilson School, as well as a Marie Curie Visiting Professor at the European University Institute. He is Director of the Program in Contemporary European Politics and Society and serves on the editorial committee of the journal World Politics and is Chairman of the Academic Council of The European Association for Banking and Financial History (EABH). Before coming to the United States in 1986, he was a Fellow of Peterhouse for eight years. He was awarded with the Ellen MacArthur Prize for Economic History at the University of Cambridge in 1982, the Helmut Schmidt Prize in Economic History at the German Historical Institute in Washington, D.C. in 2004 and the Ludwig Erhard Prize for writing about economics in 2005. His research focuses on European economic history, and German history in particular. He has published and co-authored several books analysing Germany's financial history in the interwar era, the changing character of national identity in Germany and detailed studies about the Deutsche Bundesbank. His latest book, Making the European Monetary Union published by the Harvard University Press in 2012, deals with the role of the Committee of Central Bank Governors and the origins of the European Central Bank, giving us a deeper understanding of the European monetary crisis by tracing the decade-long process of implementing the idea of a Europe-wide monetary union and common currency, which finally morphed into the European Central Bank.
